THE FURTADO CENTER – THE SEATTLE STORM'S TRAINING FACILITY

At a surprise unveiling in 2001, then-Sonics and Storm owners Barry and Ginger Ackerley announced the renaming of the Sonics & Storm training facility to "The Furtado Center." The "Voice of the Sonics" Kevin Calabro served as the master of ceremonies and read then-Seattle Mayor Paul Schell's proclamation of Feb. 23, 2001 as "Frank and Sarah Furtado Day." Sonics President and CEO Wally Walker and Sonics Head Coach Nate McMillan joined former and current players, as well as front-office personnel, to share their memories with the Furtado family.

The Furtado Center represents and honors Sarah and Frank Furtado's more than 50 combined years of dedication to the Sonics organization.

The 2005 WNBA season marks the sixth year the Storm will conduct its training camp at The Furtado Center, which opened its doors on Oct. 1, 1994. The building is 30,000 square feet and occupies a 2.5 acre site just east of Seattle Center at 490 Fifth Ave. N.

The facility includes regulation NBA/WNBA basketball courts and business offices for the basketball operations staff. The building also features a spacious weight training and aerobics room, a physical therapy area, locker rooms, a resistance training pool and a steam room.

In addition to serving as the Sonics' and Storm's team headquarters, The Furtado Center also hosts summer youth camps, coaches' clinics and special events.

WNBA IN THE COMMUNITY

Storm All-Star Sue Bird has helped open books and minds of local kids through the WNBA's 'Read to Achieve' program.

The WNBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on promoting a healthy lifestyle and positive body image, breast-health awareness, reading and youth programs. Each team is required to participate in league community-relations programs in addition to their own community outreach efforts.

WNBA BE SMART - BE FIT - BE YOURSELF

The WNBA will embrace its responsibility as the preeminent women's professional sports league with powerful role models to continue to deliver important messages and programs related to the areas of health, fitness, nutrition and self esteem.

WNBA Be Smart - Be Fit - Be Yourself will encourage teens and women of all ages to learn more about their bodies and the importance of physical fitness. Programming has been developed to encourage teens and women to get started on "being fit" through small changes in their daily regimens.

The program will roll out over several months starting in spring of 2005 and will serve as a year-long "call to action" for teens and women to make a commitment to being fit and healthy. The official tipoff of the program will correspond with the start of the 2005 season. The content of the program will be communicated and delivered through vehicles including a fitness journal, a "team" of spokespeople, national and local events and promotion.

BREAST HEALTH AWARENESS

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative. The 2005 season will mark the third year of the partnership between the WNBA and The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. In 2004, the WNBA and its teams raised nearly $200,000 to benefit the Komen Foundation. The highlights of the partnership are a pair of online auctions, held in July and October, where fans have the opportunity to log on and bid on their favorite WNBA and NBA items. All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA and NBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and autographed items, will benefit The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

READ TO ACHIEVE

Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative supported by NBA, WNBA and NBDL teams and promotes the values of reading and online literacy while encouraging families and adults to read regularly with young children. The program includes thousands of reading time-outs, the donation of books and literacy materials and the creation of Reading and Learning Centers and Reading Corners throughout the world.

National and local All-Star Reading Teams have been formed that consist of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA and WNBA family. The teams promote reading efforts through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year.

JR. NBA/JR. WNBA

The Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA believes that lessons learned on and off the court as a member of a team are lessons infinitely useful in building relationships at school, home and work. By stressing fundamental skill development, teamwork, sportsmanship and positive adult participation, the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA aims to develop a life-long passion for the game of basketball by providing a support structure that not only encourages participation, but also makes the game fun and rewarding for players, coaches, officials and parents.

COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD

The WNBA Community Assist Award was created to honor the WNBA players that reflect the passion the league and its athletes have for their communities. The WNBA will recognize one player in each of the 13 WNBA team markets with an offseason Community Assist Award. The WNBA will donate $500 in the name of each offseason award winner to the charity of her choice. Teams will be provided with WNBA Community Assist Award plaques to present to the winners during on-court presentations at one of the teams' first three home games.

In June, July and August, the WNBA will choose one player from across the league for the Community Assist Award and will donate $5,000 in the name of that player to the charity of her choice.

STORM IN THE COMMUNITY

The Seattle Storm believe that success is not measured solely by wins on the basketball court. Giving back to the community is also a high priority, and the Storm have established a strong connection with their fans.

The team aims to serve as a powerful community advocate for women's sports while spreading the message of the value and importance of sports and fitness for all youth and women. The Storm strive to strengthen the bond between players and fans by creating meaningful personal experiences and to enrich their support of local organizations through effective community partnerships.

Recognized as one of the WNBA's most active teams in the community, the Storm are committed to serving others through the team's community initiatives.

- With the goal of making "Every Child A Reader," the Storm are partnering with Starbucks Coffee and the Seattle, King County and Pierce County library systems to promote summer reading in the Read To Achieve program. Along with Sonics Read To Achieve, this year-round literacy effort encourages all kids to read. Youth participants who complete the program at their local library branches earn or receive a chance to win two Storm tickets compliments of Starbucks. Storm players also visit local libraries, schools and Starbucks locations to read to children and host book drives during the season.

- The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA is an initiative that supports existing youth basketball leagues by providing instructional support materials for players, parents, coaches and officials. Any league can become a Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA member simply by applying online at NBA.com or WNBA.com. The Sonics & Storm community relations department assists the program by encouraging local youth basketball leagues to get on board and by making guest appearances at several leagues during their seasons.

In Storm community events, reaching kids is the primary focus.

- One of the Storm's signature community initiatives is Kids Assist, a charitable donation program that allows individuals and corporations to purchase Storm tickets for local nonprofit organizations that serve children throughout the Puget Sound region. Kids Assist provides children the opportunity to experience the WNBA firsthand and to be exposed to positive female role models. More than 5,000 kids have benefited from Kids Assist.

- WNBA Be Smart - Be Fit - Be Yourself is designed to educate teens and women about the risks and dangers of obesity and inactivity and to answer questions about healthy nutrition and lifestyle choices.

- The Storm partner with scores of organizations serving the Puget Sound region, including the American Heart Association, Boys & Girls Clubs, Girl Scouts, Jubilee Women's House, Northwest Girls Coalition, Starlight Children's Foundation, Treehouse, Women's Funding Alliance, the YWCA and numerous parks and recreation centers.

Members of the 2004 WNBA Champion Storm share their October title celebration with the community in downtown Seattle.

THE BASKETBALL CLUB OF SEATTLE

The Storm's 2004 WNBA Championship marked the first professional basketball title under the Basketball Club of Seattle's ownership.

The Basketball Club of Seattle LLC (TBCS) is a group of Seattle-area investors led by entrepreneur Howard Schultz. TBCS purchased the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics and the WNBA's Seattle Storm from The Ackerley Group in 2001.

Following approval of the transaction by the NBA Board of Governors, the $200 million sale of the teams was finalized on April 1, 2001.

Schultz, chairman of Starbucks Coffee Company, serves as chairman of the ownership group while TBCS board member and team co-owner Wally Walker is President and CEO of the Seattle Sonics & Storm.

The Basketball Club of Seattle is the third owner of the SuperSonics, which was established in 1967, and is the second owner of the Storm, which was founded in 1999 by The Ackerley Group. The Ackerley Group purchased the Sonics in 1983 from the team's original owner, Sam Schulman.

THE SEATTLE SONICS & STORM BUSINESS OFFICE

Located a few blocks west of KeyArena on Elliott Avenue, The Seattle Sonics & Storm serves as the business branch of the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics and the WNBA's Seattle Storm.

Managers of the Puget Sound region's two professional basketball franchises, the organization oversees all sales, marketing, finance, public relations and basketball operations for the teams.

The office also manages the Sonics & Storm Team Shop located at 312 First Ave. N. on KeyArena's West Plaza. Additional information on Sonics and Storm merchandise can be accessed online at SeattleTeamShop.com or by calling the arena store at 206-269-SHOP (7467).

Howard Schultz

CHAIRMAN

Seattle-based entrepreneur Howard Schultz is chairman of The Basketball Club of Seattle LLC and Starbucks Coffee Company. In April 2001, The Basketball Club of Seattle, a group of local private investors, purchased the Seattle SuperSonics of the NBA and the WNBA's Seattle Storm.

An avid sports fan, Schultz is committed to increasing fan support for the Storm, returning the Sonics to the NBA elite and building upon each team's community involvement.

Schultz immediately made his mark on the Sonics & Storm organization with his "fans first" approach to enhancing the popularity of the teams in the Seattle region.

With the Storm, Schultz recognized that the team's marketing challenge was to build on the existing base of loyal fans while attracting new fans for the young franchise. The marketing plan focused on sharing with the community the remarkable lives and achievements of Storm players and coaches and their ability to win over potential fans that had yet to experience the WNBA firsthand. Through offseason promotional campaigns such as "Stormin' the Sound," the number of prospective fans grew dramatically as targeted groups got to know the Storm on a personal level through free basketball clinics and special events.

With the Sonics, Schultz stressed that the connection between players and fans needed to be stronger – much like the bond he experienced with the New York Knicks, the team he rooted for in his youth. Schultz organized town-hall style meetings throughout the Seattle area to gather suggestions from citizens on what they wanted from their pro basketball experience. His insistence on making player/fan interaction more frequent and meaningful at games and public events resulted in the Sonics making more community appearances than any other NBA team during Schultz's first two full years of ownership.

In addition, Schultz focused on placing the rich heritage of Seattle's NBA franchise into the spotlight. He brought back the traditional green and gold team colors reflective of the great Sonics squads of the past. A new logo and player uniforms generated from his "heritage" theme conversely created a progressive team identity inspired by the club's notable history. Schultz even featured legendary Sonics players from the city's storied teams at games so fans could share with them the organization's textured past.

Schultz joined Starbucks Coffee Company as director of operations and marketing in 1982 when the company had only four stores. In 1987, Schultz purchased Starbucks Coffee Company with the help of local investors.

Widely known as the architect of the company's brand image, Schultz is now Starbucks Chairman and Chief Global Strategist. He continues to provide strategic direction, serve as the vision and voice of the Starbucks brand, and identify new business alliances and development initiatives.

Starbucks was one of the first privately held companies in North America to offer two unique benefits to its partners (employees). Beginning in 1987, part-time partners became eligible for full health benefits; and in 1991, eligible full and part-time partners began to share ownership in the company in the form of stock options called Bean Stock.

In 1992, Starbucks became the first specialty coffee company to be publicly traded and is now the leading retailer, roaster and brand of specialty coffee in the world.

In 1997, Schultz created The Starbucks Foundation to raise awareness for literacy causes and to give grants to organizations that promote literacy. The foundation was initially funded by Schultz's profits from his best-selling book, Pour Your Heart Into It: How Starbucks Built a Company One Cup at a Time. Since its creation, the foundation has contributed millions of dollars to literacy programs throughout North America.

In 1998, Starbucks formed a 50/50 joint venture partnership with Earvin "Magic" Johnson's Johnson Development Corp. to open Starbucks locations in urban neighborhoods throughout the United States. The joint venture has opened more than 50 stores to date.

Schultz has received many prestigious awards in recognition of his numerous business and community contributions, including the Business Enterprise Trust Award for courage, integrity and social vision in business; the International Humanitarian Award for CARE, a worldwide relief organization; the Jerusalem Fund of Aish HaTorah for individuals making significant contributions to improving the lives of people around the world; the National Leadership Award for philanthropic and educational efforts to battle AIDS from AIDS Action; the Business Leader of the Year Award from Georgetown University and the Botwinick Prize for Business Ethics from Columbia University. In January 2002, Schultz was named one of the top 25 Managers of the Year by Business Week magazine.

Wally Walker

PRESIDENT AND CEO

In April of 2001, a new era began in the Seattle Sonics & Storm organization as Wally Walker became its President and CEO. After serving as the Sonics president and general manager for the previous seven years, Walker now oversees all business, marketing and sales for both the Storm and Sonics. In addition to his role managing the business side of the teams, Walker is a member of the Basketball Club of Seattle LLC – the ownership group that purchased the Sonics and the Storm on April 1, 2001 – and is also a member of its board of directors.

Under Walker's leadership, the Basketball Club of Seattle has made great strides with its stated goal of becoming the most fan-centric organization in professional sports. The club's initial accomplishments included the addition of a state-of-the-art scoreboard, sound system, LED ring and Fast Break Clubs to KeyArena to greater enhance the NBA and WNBA fan experience. In addition, fan loyalty programs were instituted for guests at Sonics and Storm games for the first time in either franchise's history. Sonics players wrote personal thank-you notes to season ticket holders and former Sonics players were featured at games and community events.

With the Storm, Walker increased the ownership group's investment in its six-year-old WNBA franchise in order to improve the team's offseason marketing presence and add greater value to Storm game nights for fans. The reinforced financial commitment, along with additional resources earmarked for the Storm, helped increase ticket sales and helped support an eventual WNBA Championship team.

On July 21, 1994, Walker was hired as the eighth general manager in the history of the Sonics. The club registered the third-highest winning percentage in the NBA (353-189/.651) during Walker's seven years as president and general manager. The .651 winning percentage is the best during any GM's tenure in club history.

While serving as president and general manager, Walker introduced several advancements to the franchise's conventional scouting and player-evaluation methods. Walker also capitalized on state-of-the-art information technology to commission for the organization an unprecedented, comprehensive player-evaluation software system. Developed by the Sonics front office itself, the computer program is among the most advanced professional player-evaluation systems in the sports industry. The franchise's unique software program also provides elaborate data for potential player transactions including the status of player contracts, impacts of player acquisitions on salary-cap rules and regulations and other applicable player information.

Long associated with the city of Seattle, Walker became a member of the Sonics as a player in 1977 when he was acquired from the Portland Trail Blazers. Originally a 1976 first-round draft choice (fifth overall), he helped Portland win its only NBA Championship in his rookie season.

In his first two seasons with the Sonics, Walker helped his team advance to the NBA Finals twice, culminating with the league championship in 1979.

Walker spent five seasons with Seattle and became a starter in 1981-82, his final season as a Sonics player. During his five years in a Sonics uniform, Walker played in 54 career playoff games, ranking him in the top-10 in team history for most postseason appearances. He played the final two years of his eight-year NBA career with the Houston Rockets.

Upon concluding his time as a player, Walker earned an MBA from Stanford University's Graduate School of Business in 1987. He joined Goldman, Sachs and spent seven years with the company. While working at Goldman, Sachs, Walker remained close to basketball by moonlighting as a sports broadcaster for the Pac-10 Conference and the Sonics.

Additionally, Walker is a Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA), which was conferred upon him in 1992. Walker left Goldman, Sachs in 1994 to launch Walker Capital, Inc., a money-management business. He closed the company when he accepted his position with the Sonics.

In 1995-96, after Walker acquired players Hersey Hawkins, David Wingate and Frank Brickowski in the offseason, Seattle won a club-record 64 games. The Sonics emerged as the Western Conference Champions and advanced to the NBA Finals for the first time in 17 years. Under his leadership, the Sonics won three Pacific Division titles and finished second once. Along with longtime team trainer Frank Furtado, Walker is the only other person to be a part of Sonics Basketball for all three of its Western Conference Championships.

After the 1997-98 season, fellow NBA executives voted Walker second to Cleveland's Wayne Embry for The Sporting News Executive of the Year Award. With his drafting of Rashard Lewis in 1998 and Desmond Mason in 2000, the Sonics commenced their rebuilding plan, while remaining playoff competitive.

In January 2001, Walker received the NCAA Silver Anniversary Award, which is given annually to six former student-athletes for outstanding service and achievement since college graduation. The National Association of Basketball Coaches also named Walker to the Silver Anniversary All-American Team in April 2001.

Karen Bryant

STORM CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

One of the original architects of the franchise, Karen Bryant is in her sixth season with the Seattle Storm and her second as chief operating officer.

Bryant was hired on June 18, 1999, just 11 days after Seattle was selected as one of four WNBA expansion-team cities, along with Indiana, Miami and Portland. She served as vice president of business operations for four seasons and was promoted to chief operating officer on Nov. 5, 2003.

Bryant oversees all business operations for the Storm, including ticket sales, marketing, public relations and community relations.

In 1999, Bryant spearheaded the franchise's original drive for 5,500 season-ticket pledges, which culminated in a total of more than 7,200 ticket deposits for the Storm's inaugural 2000 season.

Her work has contributed to last season's Storm WNBA Championship and record-setting attendance for the club at KeyArena.

As the Storm prepare for their sixth summer in the WNBA, Bryant and her staff have been bolstered by the 2004 title, league-leading season-ticket retention rates and four consecutive years of increased attendance with double-digit revenue growth.

Under Bryant's leadership, the Storm remain one of the WNBA's most community-active teams. The organization is committed to preserving women's professional basketball in the region and ensuring that the team maintains a valuable presence in the community.

Bryant joined the Storm after a two-year tenure with the American Basketball League's Seattle Reign, which rooted her firmly in Seattle's women's basketball community.

During the Reign's inaugural season, she served as the team's director of basketball operations before being promoted to assistant general manager. In February of 1998, she became the Reign's general manager.

Bryant is also an accomplished public speaker on the subjects of leadership, team-building, marketing and the evolution of women's sports.

Prior to joining the professional sports world, Bryant worked for NBBJ Architects and established a project management consulting company, KMB Associates, in 1993.

A native of Edmonds, Wash., Bryant was a standout athlete at Woodway High School. She played basketball for Green River Community College, Seattle University and the University of Washington. At UW, she majored in communications.

In that position, he was responsible for the management of all ticket sales for the Sonics and the Continental Indoor Soccer League's Seattle SeaDogs.

In 1997, Pete also took on the role of overseeing the organization's Guest Services Department, providing customer service to all Sonics ticket clients. In 1999, his departments were instrumental in securing the WNBA's league requirement of 5,500 season ticket deposits to establish a WNBA franchise for the city of Seattle. The WNBA's Storm ultimately secured 7,200 season-ticket deposits, a league expansion-team record.

In his role as vice president, Winemiller has directed his efforts toward establishing a training division for the organization. Brian M. Byrnes

VICE PRESIDENT OF SALES AND MARKETING

In the world of professional sports, numbers speak louder than words. And few people understand that as well as Brian Byrnes. Currently vice president of sales and marketing for the Seattle Sonics & Storm, he is formerly the executive vice president of business operations for the Phoenix Coyotes Hockey Club. At Phoenix, Byrnes led a franchise record in increasing ticket sales and revenue. His leadership also produced more than $6 million in incremental corporate sponsorships for the team, and doubled annual suite sales revenue.

Byrnes' success in Phoenix could have been foreshadowed, for he brought with him nearly 10 years of progressive results from the Dallas Stars (National Hockey League) and Texas Rangers (Major League Baseball). He was an original employee in the front office for the Dallas Stars Hockey Club in 1993 and was instrumental in guiding the team from a start-up franchise to being recognized as a Top Ten NHL team in revenue in 1997. With Byrnes leading the sales and marketing campaigns, the Dallas Stars went on to lead the league in ticket revenue by the 2001-02 season, with 15,000 season ticket holders, a waiting list of more than 5,000 people and a Dallas/Fort Worth venue record sellout streak of 194 consecutive games.

Byrnes' most recent accomplishment was the successful transition for the Coyotes and arena management group into its new home – the 17,799 seat Glendale Arena in Glendale, Ariz. During the building's 18-month construction, he represented the organization on its design, sight lines, seating environment, luxury suite and club seating, private venues and restaurants, fan-friendly amenities and the overall look and feel of the venue, ensuring that every detail added to the warmth of the Coyotes' home ice. Byrnes' strong leadership skills were an asset to the Coyotes organization and quickly earned him the respect of employees, media and community leaders.

WNBA Champions

Anne Donovan

HEAD COACH AND DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

Anne Donovan is in her third season as the Storm's head coach. Last year, she led the Storm to the 2004 WNBA Championship and became the first female head coach to capture the league title.

After posting a 20-14 record and a second-place finish in the Western Conference, she steered the Storm to their second playoff appearance in the five-year history of the franchise.

Donovan's 20 wins last season set a Storm franchise record for victories in a regular season, eclipsing her 2003 mark of 18 wins.

Last summer, Donovan served as an assistant coach to Van Chancellor on the gold-medal winning 2004 U.S. Women's Olympic Team in Athens, Greece. While with the team, she coached her own WNBA player in Storm All-Star point guard Sue Bird.

In honor of her remarkable accomplishments in 2004, Donovan was named the "Female Sports Star of the Year" at the Seattle Post-Intelligencer's 70th annual sports banquet on Jan. 19, 2005.

With a victory over Indiana on July 22, 2004, Donovan surpassed former Cleveland Head Coach Dan Hughes (76 wins) for fourth place on the WNBA's all-time list for career coaching victories. Anne now has the second longest tenure in the league behind Houston's Van Chancellor.

The 2004 WNBA Playoffs marked the third time Donovan guided a team into the postseason. She led the Charlotte Sting into the league playoffs in 2001 and 2002. In 2001, the Sting advanced to the WNBA finals against Los Angeles.

Following her stint in Charlotte, Donovan was named head coach of the Storm on Dec. 18, 2002, becoming the second coach in the club's history.

On Nov. 5, 2003, Donovan also assumed the title of director of player personnel in conjunction with Karen Bryant being named the Storm's Chief Operating Officer.

At the 2002 World Championships in China, Donovan served as an assistant coach to Chancellor on the gold-medal winning U.S. Women's Senior National Team. The 2004 Olympics marked Anne's fourth coaching stint with USA Basketball. As a player, she was a member of 12 U.S. national teams in a span of 12 years.

With the Sting, Donovan, who coached the Eastern Conference team in the 2002 WNBA All-Star Game, had a record of 36-28 (.563). She led Charlotte to an amazing turnaround in 2001 when the team began the season 1-10 before embarking on a 17-4 run that ended in a WNBA Finals appearance. In that championship series, Donovan's Sting lost to the Los Angeles Sparks.

Donovan, a Naismith Award winner and three-time All-American selection at Old Dominion, was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. on May 15, 1995. She is one of just five women in the history of the game to attain this highest distinction a male or female basketball player can receive.

She began her WNBA coaching career as the interim head coach of the expansion Indiana Fever in 2000. She also was the head coach of the Philadelphia Rage in the former American Basketball League (ABL) in 1998.

Her coaching career began in the collegiate ranks where she was an assistant at her alma mater Old Dominion for six seasons (1989 through1995) before taking the helm at East Carolina University for three years (1995 through 1998).

Donovan was a member of the gold-medal winning U.S. Women's Basketball Team at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles and at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, Korea. She was also a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team, giving her the distinction of being one of only three women to be on three Olympic squads.

Anne also played professional basketball in Japan (1983 through 1988) and in Italy (1988-89).

2004 REGULAR SEASON REVIEW

2004 SEASON CHRONOLOGY

JAN. 26, 2004	2003 WNBA MVP Lauren Jackson was named the "Female Sports Star of the Year" for 2003 at the 69th annual Seattle Post-Intelligencer banquet.
FEB. 5, 2004	Sue Bird was named to the 2004 U.S. Women's Senior National Basketball Team for the Summer Olympics in Athens, Greece.
MAY 20, 2004	In the franchise's fifth season opener, the Storm defeated the Lynx 88-85 at KeyArena. Jackson scored 31 points, the second highest opening night total in WNBA history (Kate Smith of Minnesota scored 33 in 2001).
MAY 22, 2004	The Storm defeated the Sparks 93-67 at KeyArena to start the regular season 2-0 for the first time in franchise history. The loss for L.A. snapped its six-game opening-night winning streak, and the 93 points tied a Storm record for most points in a game (previously 6/22/03 vs. San Antonio). KeyArena was sold out for the ninth time in Storm regular-season history and for the first time since the Sparks played in Seattle on 5/30/03.
JUNE 5, 2004	The Storm recorded their first-ever win at ARCO Arena with a 65-63 victory over the Sacramento Monarchs, snapping a seven-game skid that began with the franchise's inaugural game on 5/31/00. The win also ended a nine-game road losing streak. A Betty Lennox jumper with 1.4 seconds remaining gave Seattle the win. Kamila Vodichkova scored her 1,000th career point.
JUNE 19, 2004	The Storm extended their winning streak to a franchise-record six games with a 74-61 victory over the San Antonio Silver Stars.
JUNE 22, 2004	Bird scored her 1,000th career point in a 63-57 loss to the Houston Comets.
JUNE 25, 2004	Jackson shattered the league record for most Web site hits on her player profile page at WNBA.com with more than 90,000, eclipsing the previous mark of 30,000 set by her teammate Bird.
JUNE 26, 2004	In Spokane, the Storm hosted the first-ever, out-of-market WNBA regular-season game, but fell to the New York Liberty 67-62.
JULY 3, 2004	Jackson scored a franchise-record 23 first-half points in a 75-61 win over the Monarchs at ARCO Arena.
JULY 14, 2004	Jackson received the ESPY Award for "Best WNBA Player in 2003."
JULY 15, 2004	Jackson became the youngest player in WNBA history to reach the 2,000 point plateau. The milestone came in the first half of the Storm's 66-63 victory over Sacramento.
JULY 19, 2004	Jackson was named WNBA Player of the Week, the fourth time in her career she received the honor.
JULY 26, 2004	Jackson earned her second straight WNBA Player of the Week honor, joining Houston's Cynthia Cooper as the only other player to do so in WNBA history.
JULY 27, 2004	The Storm suffered their worst loss since the end of the 2000 season and their first double-digit loss of the year, falling to Houston 80-55.
AUG. 28, 2004	Bird "brought home the gold" while Jackson returned to Seattle with a silver medal as the two Storm standouts became opponents in the U.S. vs. Australia 2004 Olympic Final in Athens, Greece.
SEPT. 1, 2004	The Storm began their post-Olympics stretch of the regular season schedule with a loss to Sacramento that snapped a seven-game home winning streak. Jackson missed her first game of 2004 after being placed on the injured list with a right mid-foot sprain.
SEPT. 8, 2004	Seattle snapped a three-game losing streak (all played without Jackson) and matched the franchise record for wins with 18. Jackson, returning after three games on the injured list, had 15 points and seven rebounds to extend her streak of scoring in double-figures to 79 games.
SEPT. 18, 2004	The Storm lost to Los Angeles 83-80, giving the Sparks their first regular-season series win over Seattle (3-1) for the first time since their 2001 WNBA campaign. The game's official attendance of 14,884 broke a Storm franchise record (previously 12,327 vs. Portland on 8/11/02). The Storm finished the season with an attendance average of 8,175 in 16 KeyArena games, up from an average of 7,109 in the previous year. Los Angeles finished the regular season as the Western Conference's top team. Seattle earned the second seed for the playoffs. Jackson finished as the league's leading scorer for the second straight season with an average of 20.5 points per game.
SEPT. 27, 2004	Seattle defeated the Minnesota Lynx 64-54 at KeyArena to win their opening round of the 2004 WNBA Playoffs. The Storm swept the Lynx 2-0 in the best-of-three first round to advance to the Western Conference Finals for the first time in team history.
OCT. 5, 2004	The Storm beat Sacramento 82-62 in Game 3 of the Western Conference Finals at KeyArena to advance to the WNBA Finals for the first time in franchise history. Jackson's 27 points led the way to the club's first-ever Western Conference Championship as Seattle overcame a Game 1 loss to take the series 2-1.
OCT. 12, 2004	The Storm defeated the Connecticut Sun 74-60 in Game 3 of the 2004 WNBA Finals to capture the franchise's first WNBA Championship before a sellout crowd of 17,072 at KeyArena. Seattle's Lennox was named Finals MVP.

1999 AND 2000 CHRONOLOGY

June 7, 1999	The WNBA announced that the league's operating committee selected four expansion teams to begin play in the 2000 season, the league's fourth year in existence. The addition of the four teams – to be operated by the Indiana Pacers, Miami Heat, Portland Trail Blazers and Seattle SuperSonics – brought the number of teams in the league to 16. The award of the operating rights to the expansion teams was conditioned on each franchise securing at least 5,500 season ticket pledges before the deadline of Oct. 15, 1999.
June 17, 1999	Full House Sports & Entertainment named Karen Bryant the senior director of WNBA operations. Bryant, a native of Edmonds who played basketball for the University of Washington, was the former General Manager of the Seattle Reign of the American Basketball League.
July 1, 1999	University of Washington women's basketball coach June Daugherty committed to the 1,000th season ticket deposit for the new WNBA franchise in Seattle.
July 22, 1999	Full House Sports & Entertainment hired Lin Dunn, former Purdue University and Portland Power (ABL) head coach, as the general manager and head coach of Seattle's new WNBA team.

HISTORY OF THE WNBA

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman – the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes–the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper–the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets–the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie–the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "ta-da list." With less than 15 months to tipoff, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows.

ON THE AIR...

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 30 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner through 2002, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen in carrying WNBA games beginning with the 2003 season.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2003, with WNBA content broadcast to 183 countries in 26 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

THE PLAYERS AND THE TEAMS...

The first of the player signings was announced on October 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bolton, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player), and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets, and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

On April 29, 1997, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced the league's first collective bargaining agreement–a first of its kind in women's team sports.

By 2000, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle in 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On January 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun were awarded the Orlando Miracle and became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Tribe of Indians becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history.

On April 25, 2003, the WNBA and the WNBPA signed its second collective bargaining agreement which gave WNBA players the first free agency rights in women's professional team sports.

On September 19, 2003, the Cleveland Cavaliers/Gund Arena Company announced that they decided they would no longer operate the Cleveland Rockers.

THE WNBA DRAFT...

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001. The Cleveland Rockers made Latoya Thomas of Mississippi State the No. 1 selection in the 2003 WNBA Draft held Friday, April 25, 2003.

THE LOGOS AND THE UNIFORMS...

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo–"Logo Woman"–was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms–two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

On May 1, 2003, the WNBA and Reebok unveiled new uniform designs which were created to maximize performance and provide optimal comfort for the players. The jerseys are tapered to fit a woman's body and are designed to be worn untucked, providing a free range of motion for the players. The new uniforms features flat-back mesh material that incorporates Play Dry™ technology – Reebok's moisture management system that helps keep the athlete cooler, drier and more comfortable by using temperature and humidity-regulating properties in the fabric.

The WNBA and Reebok also unveiled a new style in the WNBA Footwear Collection by Reebok–the WNBA Isolation–at the beginning of the 2003 season. This shoe features the WNBA logo on the heel, tongue, sole and sock liner.

IT'S A BALL GAME...

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 20-foot, 6-inch three-point line, two 20-minute halves, eleven-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

MILLIONS OF FANS JOIN IN...

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season. In 2003, the WNBA season attendance topped the 2 million for the fourth consecutive year.

FANS GET CONNECTED ONLINE...

The league website, WNBA.com, is the single most authoritative source of information for WNBA fans around the world offering late-breaking news, real-time scores, statistics, behind-the-scenes access, video highlights, the most comprehensive women's sports fantasy basketball game, WNBA Virtual GM, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders and complete websites for all 14 WNBA teams.

On May 31, 2003, WNBA.com featured the first-ever live video webcast of a game in women's professional sports history when the Detroit Shock played the Charlotte Sting. The success of the groundbreaking webcast lead to the launch of WNBA Broadband Season Pass, a multimedia subscription service featuring 10 additional live webcasts of WNBA games, WNBA Season Audio Pass and broadband highlights and features.

Overall the popularity of WNBA.com continues to soar. During the 2003 season, WNBA.com averaged over 60,000 visits per day.

IN THE COMMUNITY...

For the WNBA, the focus has been three primary outreach initiatives: Read to Achieve, a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children; the Breast Health Awareness program, an initiative designed to draw national attention to the issue of breast cancer and the importance of early detection; and the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. In 2003, the league debuted its WNBA Mind, Body Spirit campaign, which encompasses the Breast Health Awareness program but also focuses on nutrition, exercise and positive self-image.

LEAGUE SHOWCASES ALL-STARS...

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars – led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie – defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61 before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on Monday, July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 in front of a crowd of 10,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time. ESPN televised the game live through the 2002 game.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game marked its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on July 12. The event was held on the weekend for the first time and made its network television debut on ABC. The West All-Stars won the event for the fifth straight year by beating the East All-Stars 84-75 in front of 18,610 fans, with Nikki Teasley of the Los Angeles Sparks taking home the MVP honors.

WNBA FINALS...

The first four years of the WNBA saw the Houston Comets dominate the league Finals and create the first dynasty of the WNBA. The Comets captured the inaugural Championship against New York on August 30, 1997 by a score of 65-51. Comets guard, Cynthia Cooper won the first Finals MVP award. In 1998, the WNBA Finals was expanded to a three-game series and Houston defeated Phoenix two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her second consecutive Finals MVP award. In 1999, New York advanced back to the Championship and played Houston, a rematch of the 1997 Championship game. The Comets out lasted the Liberty to win their third straight WNBA Championship, two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper won her third Finals MVP award. In 2000, Houston and New York played for the third time in four years with the Comets the same as the previous years with Houston winning their fourth straight WNBA Championship, two games to none and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her fourth straight Finals MVP award. In 2001, Los Angeles knocked off Houston in the early rounds of the Western Conference playoffs and advanced on to meet Charlotte in the WNBA Finals. Los Angeles, behind the play of Finals MVP Lisa Leslie, won the WNBA Finals two games to none. In 2002, Los Angeles advanced to the WNBA Finals and earned the right to defend their WNBA championship versus New York. The Sparks defeated the Liberty two games to zero and won their second consecutive Finals and Lisa Leslie won the WNBA Finals MVP award for the second straight year.

In 2003, the Los Angeles Sparks returned to the Finals with the opportunity to win three straight WNBA Championships. However, the Detroit Shock advanced through the Eastern Conference and reached the Finals and because they finished the regular season with the best record in the league, they earned home court advantage for the Finals. It ended up be vital as the Sparks won the first game in Los Angeles to take a one game to zero lead. Detroit bounced back to win game two, 62-61 to even the series one game a piece. The third and final game was played in front of a sell out crowd and record attendance for the WNBA of 22,076. The Shock captured the WNBA crown winning the game by a score of 88-78 as Detroit center Ruth Riley was awarded the Series MVP.

WE GOT GAME...

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adopted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA and its history, log on to WNBA.com.

GENERAL MEDIA INFORMATION

Welcome to the 2005 WNBA season and the Seattle Storm's sixth year in the league.

The following media guidelines have been established to assist you in your coverage of the Storm and to provide a professional, comfortable working environment for all members of the media.

If you have any questions or interview requests, please contact the Storm public relations department at 206-281-5847.

KEYARENA is located on the grounds of the Seattle Center. From I-5 (north or southbound) take the Mercer Street exit and follow the signs marked "Seattle Center." The arena is approximately 25 minutes north of the airport.

MEDIA ENTRANCE is located through Parking Lot 4 on the south side of KeyArena (corner of Warren Street and Thomas Street).

CREDENTIALS may be requested by calling the public relations department 24 hours prior to the game. Credentials are issued to accredited members of the media who are on assignment to cover a specific game. Please confirm your credential request prior to arriving at the game. Credentials should be used for work at all times and are non-transferable. Unauthorized use of a credential may subject the bearer to ejection from the arena and forfeiture of the credential.

PARKING is available on a limited basis and may be arranged by phoning the public relations department.

TELEPHONES are provided in the media workroom and on a limited basis at courtside. If you need a dedicated phone line, call the public relations department to make arrangements.

SEATING is located at courtside, on the second level of the west side of the arena and in all media sections. Please do not switch seating without approval from a member of the public relations department. Seating charts can be found at the media entrance and in the media workroom.

PHOTOGRAPHERS can find photo charts with their assigned spots at the media entrance, in the media workroom and on the basket stanchions. All lanes are assigned and photographers are asked to not switch lanes without approval from a member of the public relations department. Please be considerate of season-ticket holders seated directly behind you.
